Bryant Says Gadgets In Same Category as Old Slot Machines

COLUMBUS (P)-A combination two recent court decisions has Sen. Lehman (D-NY). It adjoins given Ohio Liquor Director William C. Bryant most of the weapons he seeks to wage a war of extermination against pinball machines in taverns.

"The bell has sounded," says Bryant. "Now it's time for school to take up. Pinball machines are now in the same legal category as slot machines and under that law a person is subject to a felony prosecution if he simply has the handle of a slot machine in his attic."

Both Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill hailed the double-barreled blast from the courts at pinball.

But until and unless a temporary injunction which bars liquor officials from making any moves against gambling devices is dissolved, the whole burden of enforcing court decisions against rights of eight penniless Negro pinball machines rests with local authorities.

COLUMBUS (A)-A combination of two recent court decisions has given Ohio Liquor Director William C. Bryant most of the weapons he seeks to wage a war of exbottom can be seen an under- termination against pinball machines in taverns.

"The bell has sounded," says Bryant. "Now it's time for school to take up. Pinball machines are now in the same legal category as slot machines and under that law a person is subject to a felony prosecution if he simply has the handle of a slot machine in his attic."

Both Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill hailed the double-barreled blast from the courts at pinball.

But until and unless a temporary injunction which bars liquor officials from making any moves against gambling devices is dissolved, the whole burden of enforcing court decisions against pinball machines rests with local authorities.

The first decision came from the Ohio Supreme Court a couple of weeks ago. It held pinball machines which offer free games for high scores are gambling devices under the anti-slot machine law.

THEN THE SECOND District Court of Appeals followed up that decision this week by directing the Franklin County common pleas court to take a second look at its order which bars the State Liquor Board from suspending the permit residents of Ohio, which should of a tavern in which a pinball ma-

Capitol Building May Be Searched

tronic search of the entire Capitol for wiretapping and secret recording equipment became a possibility today in the wake of a security inspection of one senator's office.

The office to which Defense Department agents went uninvited was part of the suite of Sen. Lehman (D-NY). It adjoins a hearing room in which other senators have been receiving secret military information.

The agents found nothing wrong. But their search, aided by Capitol police, touched off a Senate furore yesterday that pushed aside debate on a $35 billion defense appropriation Lehman, who protested what he called "careless snooping," was promised apologies from the Defense Department, Sen. Symington's (D-Mo) Special Armed Services subcommittee occupying the room adjoining his office, and, through Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the entire Senate.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) called on the Senate to hire "experts in electronic devices" to check whether snoopers are tapping telephones of senators or planting microphones in hearing

Johnson said that the incident was "outrageous" and "typical bureaucratic stupidity," that he viewed it with "utter horror" and that he had asked the Capital police force for a report on their part in the affair.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) called the affair "a lot of political baloney.' Symington called a quick

THE APPELLATE court decision goes back to a 1954 case in which the liquor board suspended the license of a Wauseon tavern on a charge the permit holders had a gambling device on the premises. The operators appealed the 15-day suspension to commor pleas court. The court reversed the board. The attorney general's office appealed to the Second District Court.

The court order which bars liquor agents from taking any action against pinballs they find in taverns also was issued by the Franklin County common pleas court. The judge was the late Joseph M. Clifford.

The action was brought by Westerhaus, Inc., Cincinnati pinball distributor, the same firm which filed the test case which resulted in the Supreme Court's decision against pinball machines which pay off in free games.

The second Westerhaus case later was joined by some 175 other pinball distributors. The temporary injunction was issued in 1954. It never has been heard on its merits and never has been

A few days ago we listened in on a group of people here who were earnestly discussing the possible future dangers of the effects of atomic radiation. It was interesting to note that most of those taking part apparently were deeply concerned. Of course, very few in that group agreed with reports heard now and then about the bad effects of atomic blasts on weather conditions, but they did express some concern about what possible developments might come in the future.

In that connection it is interesting to note that a group of U. S. scientists, forming six major research teams, has just completed the most comprehensive study of the effect of atomic radiation on living organisms ever presented to the American people.

The conclusions drawn by the experts are only preliminary ones. Nevertheless, the scientists believe their prefatory findings ought to serve as guides for preserving human life in the age of the Hell

According to newspaper reports the scientists, members of the National Academy of Sciences, covered many phases of the radiation problem. They looked into the effect of "natural" radiation and atomic "fallout" on the weather, on sea, animal, and plant life, on human heredity and health. However, because of the dire implications for mankind, the report of the genetics panel is receiving the great-

(Indeed, the scientists intimate that medical dosages received are often too heavy, and they caution against using X-rays, in particular, above the lowest limit consistent with necessity.) And finally, there is the radiation from atomic bomb tests.

The scientific investigators seem to support the A t o m i c Energy Commission's contention that so far the fallout of radioactive dust over the United States has not been excessive. But the experts hasten to explain that this does not mean the atomic tests have had no effect on human he-

Among other things this is pointed out by the investigator's reports:

"Radiation from fallout inevitably contaminates man's food supply. Radioactive elements in the soil are taken up and concentrated by plants. The plants may be eaten by humans or by animals which in turn serve as human food.

"At present the contamination is negligible. But the maximum tolerable level is not known."

Delicate Parts

Your arms and legs, you realize, are pretty muscular and relatively strong. Your back, however, has numerous delicate parts. It can be easily injured if you let it and not your arms and legs do all the heavy work.

The sacroiliac joints which join the sacrum to the hipbone do not move freely as do your elbows or knees. Violent twisting or anything else which forces them out of position may bring on excruciating sacroiliac pain.

So, when pushing the lawn mower, don't just dig in and push. I think you'll find you'll take as much strain as possible off your back if you'll follow these four simple rules:

1. Keep your back as straight as possible, don't hunch over. 2. Lean forward from your ankles, not from your hips.

3. Brace your feet to get the maximum power from your legs. 4. Push against the ground.

be dangerous, too.

Heavy Objects The best method of lifting a heavy object from the ground is to squat and take the opposite ends of the bag in your arms. Next, straighten your back and then draw the bag straight up by straightening your legs While carrying it, rest the load against your hip and stomach. As for lifting an object that is already on a platform such as the rear end of a truck or the trunk of a car, squat and draw it onto your shoulder. Grab the front end with both hands. Then rise by straightening your legs. Lean forward and brace the load by placing your hand on This should make carrying a Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we

with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH.

Health Director Here Issues Good Advice

Summertim - picnics and outdoor living-sickness from spoiled

These go hand in hand every year-but they needn't, according to Dr. Benton Scott, Health Commissioner of Fayette County.

The main reason food spoils in hot weather-and people get sick from it-is poor refrigeration. "Hot weather causes bacteria in the food to grow rapidly". Dr. Scott pointed out. "In a matter of an hour or so food can spoil and cause illness

So a good general rule, the commissioner said, is to keep food in the refrigerator until you're ready to eat it, or go on your picnic Then don't delay too long when eating the foods

'Always, always keep these at a temperature below 50 degrees I right up until serving time," he

Summertim - picnics and outdoor living-sickness from spoiled

These go hand in hand every year-but they needn't, according to Dr. Benton Scott, Health Commissioner of Fayette County.

The main reason food spoils in hot weather-and people get sick from it—is poor refrigeration. "Hot weather causes bacteria in the food to grow rapidly", Dr. Scott pointed out. "In a matter of an hour or so food can spoil and cause illness if eaten.'

So a good general rule, the commissioner said, is to keep food in the refrigerator until you're ready to eat it, or go on your picnic. Then don't delay too long when eating the foods

Foods commonly popular for summer outings and picnics are responsible for many food - borne outbreaks. Among them: potato salad, cottage cheese, egg dishes, ground or chopped meats, custards and cream - filled pastries, Dr. Scott pointed out.

Presbyterians Delete UMT Policy Plank

WOOSTER, Ohio (49-The Ohio Presbyterian Synod voted 55-24 Thursday to strike out of its social education policy this sentence: "We express opposition to legislation calling for a program of universal military training."

The amendment eliminating the sentence was offered by a Cincinnati elder, Porter P. Lowry, who is a retired Army officer. He contended that universal military training has been defeated and is a dead issue. Lowry also offered an amendment to strike out a statement calling attention to the fact that in the national budget miliary items are far higher than appropriation for technical assistance and economic aid. This amendment was defeated.
